Compher, who turned 20 last week, had 12 goals and 23 points in 35 games with the Quebec Remparts of the Quebec Major Junior Hockey League this season. Prior to the draft, Compher told Portzline he was more interested in hearing from Buffalo. "My message to him was keep grinding," Compher told him. "You're going to get that call eventually. Things happen in the draft and you're going to have to work your way back. But you get that call eventually." Compher's father, Jimmy, will join the Sabres as an assistant coach next season, according to Chaz Rivard of TSN.Recent Progress in Chitosan-Based Dense Microparticles for the Controlled Delivery of Drugs and Biologics. Chitosan micro/nanoparticles are a leading drug delivery candidate due to their unique features including biocompatibility, bioadhesiveness, mucoadhesiveness, tunable mechanical properties, and ability to improve the oral bioavailability of the encapsulated molecules. Micro/nanoparticles are usually formulated into dense micro/nanofibers, meshes or films as effective drug carriers for controlled drug release. The dense structure can effectively maintain the integrity of the particles during storage and has the potential for use in the oral administration of large and bulky dosage forms. The recent applications of chitosan micro/nanofibers in the controlled release of drugs and biologics are highlighted in this review. The potential of dense chitosan-based micro/nanofiber meshes and films in maintaining the integrity of encapsulated drugs and
